THERE was laid on the table of the Legislative Conneil, this afternoon, a comparative statement of the revenue and expenditure of the Colony in 1888 and 1889. The total revenue was $1,823,549.13 being an increase of $206,249.10 over the amount received in 1888. Of this increase, $246,325 was contributed by the opinin mo-. $12 $1.10 nopoly, so that, apart from this exceptional revenue the increase was scarcely $20,000 -a result which cannot be considered bril-1.50 liant. Leaving opium out of account, the revenue, from stamps shows the largest increase, having risen from $187,150in 1858

to $213,479 in 1889, an increase of $26,329, month. 0.75 due doubtless to the mad share speculation in the first half of the year. Assessed taxes, which represents, we suppose, the yield of the 13 per cent, tax on routs, rolurned $14,565 more ; spirit licenses gave an increase of 80,794; lessed lands, of $10,582; and fees, of $4,252. The amount received for the registration of companies rose from $2,385 in 1888 to $6,570 in 1880-a rise which also gives some indication of the paper prosperity of Hongkong last year. As against these increases there are several items of revenue which show a decrease. Fines, which contributed $27,582 to the treasury in 1888, yielded last year only $14,996-a little more than half. Medical fees on examination of emigrants showed a similar decrease-from 10 1.00 $26,472 in 1888 to $14,408 in 1889—a falling off which is perhaps partly due to the direct emigration from Swatow and Amoy. The rents received from markels, cattle sheds and slaughter houses amounted to $2,210 less, and the rents from bulldings. $6,036 less than in 1888. The fees for the -registration of cargo boats and hawkers also decreased, the former by $1,885 and the latter by $1,799, while about $6,000 less was received for the sale of Governe P. Besobras ff, left a may on the 3rd inst. ment property. Turning now to the expen- for Forchow. diture, we find an increase in nearly all the items. THE departure of the C. P. S. S. Parthia was somewhat delayed to day (CO.h), owing to the fact that she had to disembatk a number of Chinamen. There is a law in the Dominion which, however, has hitherto practically been a dead letter, that only one Chinaman should be imported for avery fifty tons of the versel's tobusge. Hitherto this law has not been acted upon but it appears that it has recently been put into force, and that the Abysinia, the last reasel to arrive there; had been heavily penalised for having an excess of Chinese son board. Triose who recommend Europeans for cervice under The Biamese Government should be impressed with the responsibility, which such recommendation incurs. The Siamese naturally judge of European abilities and conduct ir in the men who may be serving in Government Departments here, and unfortunately within recent years the Siamese Government has been advised to engage men, who have reflected great discredit on Europeans generally. We are glad to note that the status of Europeans has yastly improved of late, and it should be the aim of everyone in the service to admit none but first-class men in the ranks. The haphazaid manner of any European recommending his friends to the Government is not to be commended. The Statorie have diready found the benefit of getting men through the Home Governments, and we hope that they will in future fill up all present heads of the Postal and Custom services were obtained in that minner .-

THE following story, which is taken from the Jopan Mail, is one of the best we have met with on the subject. It is this: -A rustic in evidently comfortable circumstances arrived at a cortain stallon one afternoon, and seated himself completently on a beack. By and by the arrival of the train by which he presumably inlended to travel became imminent. He did not buy a ticket, however, and when warned by one of the officials that time was short, ile merely said 'naru hodo' and continued to sit, The train came and went but the waiting person made no movement. A considerable interval claracd, and again the man was warned that another frain was the oath of ellegiance. It was, as usual, a in this fashion; train after train pessed, and finally at a late hour in the evening a porter came and informed the strange person that the last train was now about to deserved to be carried free.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF VICTORIA GAOL FOR 1889. The following report was presented to the Legislative Council to-day, by command of His Excellency the Officer Admi-uistering the Government:-GAOL BURENINTENDENT'S OFFICE. Hongkong, 15th January, 1890, COLONIAL SECRETARY. I beg to forward herewith Annual Statis tical Return of Victoria Gaol for the year

2. During eight months of the year I was detached from Gaol duty, Major Dempster acting as Superintendent for the time and carrying out the discipline of the Gaol on the same lines as hithorto.

3. There has been a small increase in the average number of prisoners during the year, and a large proportionate increase in the number of prison offences, but the latter increase is due entirely to petty offences of which talking and short oakum picking are the principal. The number of violent and serious prison offences has continued to steadily decrease. Eubordinate Officers.

4. The conduct of the Subordinate Slaff during the year has been very satisfactory. Thes; officers have generally been zealous which will undoubtedly do a great deal of same table, this exclusiveness on the part and painstaking and judicions in their intecourse with prisoners. The frequent changes which hitherto accurred in the personnel of the Staff have diminished since the late increase of pay.

Prison Buildings 5. These remain without change as formerly reported on. I can only repeat what I have frequently urged that in my opinion the introduction of the separate system is (espec ally in this Colony) essential to mo per prison discipline. The ordinary Chinese prisoner, better fel, housed clothed, with far less hard labour to do than an ordinary coolie, fieds nothing deterrent in cur prisons as long as he lives in association with companions day and night. but I believe that under the separate system the Chinese Criminal classes would prefet even the hardships and exerties of a Chi neso prison to the long isolation of this system, and that its introduction would be speedily followed by a considerable diminution in the number of prismers.

Prisoners and their Discipline. 6. During the year there have been 6,196 prison offences to an average of 581, giving a little over 101 offences for each prisoner. The great proportion of pruon offences are committed by short sentence prisoners. Prisoners entitled to east remission are generally careful to avoid prison offences. On the last day of the vest of 202 prinouits sentenced to 6 months' imprisonment or over, 90 have been clear of punishment for more than three months and of these 35 had been clear for upwards of a year.

-7. I append so usual returns showing the I number of the most common offences committed by prisoners, similar returns for the the dake of comparison. Industrial Labour.

8. There has been an increase in the inan increase in the number of prisoners taught trades, but industrial work is greatly happered by absolute want of space. The usual returns are appended, A. GORDON.

life at Canton was inexpressibly so. The chief thing that buoyed up our sinking spirits was the prospect of a trip to Macie somer or later, and that place was the Conton resident's earthly paradise. Most of the firms had commodious and well furnished houses there, always in readiness for the recupition of guests, as well as for tapans and clerks, and a trip there, for the latter especially, meant everything. almost, that was enjoyable in life; the temporary control of a household, and itberty to invite one's friends to share its hospitality, relief from the dull routine of He's dead and game, this prince of Fife. We smerely and carnestly hope that the office work, and ample space for exercise report is true, as we consider this associa- after being confined to the limited area of the factory enclosure through months of the most stiflingly but weather, to say pothing of exemption from the presence and constant supervision of the much-dreated taipana. In the last respect the social position of the young men at Cinton was as a tea-grovers and buyers should be entirely rule most unenviable. There was a broad placed at the mercy of this Society dictating and clearly-defined line drawn and maintained between taipans and clerks, which wealthy members only, derive any benefit was a constant grievance and cause of great it was one of the necessities of the situation, graph. as the hong system in all its purity existed then and there, and, as the entire staff of the establishment messed together at the of the heads of the house was probably considered essential for maintaining proper discipline: but one can imagine, what on appleasant thing it must have been for the clerks to sit at lable three times a day with taipans, generally stiff, silent, and reserved, and rarely entering in o conversation, while a waste of energy. Go for the more where for the latter the situation was no less climbing above you - Fullation For dubarrassing and disagreeable.

As there were few ladies in the place. bachelors' dinners were the chief entertainments; and, every one liking to keep under the punkah as long as possible, they were kept up until a late hour of night, and as the wine flowed freely, notwithstanding the heat of the climate, the sounds that oftencat broke the itiliness of the twee small hours 'were 'For he's a july good fellow' and 'We won't go home till morning," an undertaking that was often kept, as daylight frequently found the revellers still at their polations. After dinner was the most trying period of the twenty-four hours, as i was usually too hot for reading or other cocapation, the only alternative being to stretch one's self on a long chair and enjoy, as far as anything was enjoyable, a quiet smoke. The resources of the place for amusement in other ways, so far at least as the young men were concerned, were almost il. being limited to cards or chess, or other

Once or twice during my residence in Centon there was a dance, and once a ball, so called, to which the community general-Guild members, as reported in our last ly were invited, and then dress coats of all agreement re credit which it is the wish light for many a day, were dragged out and peared in their unwonted garments. The dances were nearly all monuplised by the taipans, and the prejected clerks thronged the doors and refreshment rooms, looking generally miserable and feriorn, but it was an unusual privilege for them to be there, and most of them therefore availed themselves of this opportunity for being made wretched, and nothing could better have expressed the situation than the remark I overheard from a rather rollicking taipan to one of the most utterly fortorn looking of the young men entire gauntlet, cost what it might.
